Payment Policy: Since we limit the number of participants at each workshop, registration is required in advance and is only considered complete once we receive your full payment and completed and signed registration form. ‘Early bird’ rates apply when full payment and registration are received a minimum of 60 days prior to the workshop commencement. Payment plans and later payments are subject to availability (trainings tend to fill quickly) and at a higher rate.

Cancellation Policy: Please read carefully! A cancellation fee of 25% of the regular rate registration fee for the workshop is charged for all cancellations more than 60 days prior to the workshop commencement date. For cancellations between 30 and 60 days prior to the workshop date the cancellation fee is 40%. For cancellations less than 30 days prior to a workshop commencement no refunds or carry forwards of your fee to subsequent trainings are available. Due to the high staff to participant ratio and small training group sizes there are no exceptions to this cancellation policy. The exploration workshop course is considered to have commenced as soon as the distance education portion has been sent out. In the event that Healing Hooves has to cancel a workshop for any reason we will give participants as much notice as is feasible and the registration fee paid will be refunded in full. Healing Hooves liability in such a case is limited to the registration fee paid. Workshops are not cancelled in the case of bad weather as we have indoor facilities. In the current COVID 19 environment some trainings are being moved to online options in accordance with the recommendations of regulatory and government bodies.

Methods of Payment: You can e-mail us this form and pay by e mail transfer (EMT) to sue@healinghooves.ca

Space is limited at each workshop and they tend to fill up quickly, so please e-mail before sending in your registration to confirm space is still available on the workshop/ dates you have selected.

Workshop fee includes light lunches (with vegetarian options), snacks and refreshments, workshop handouts, advance reading materials, and in some cases distance learning materials and assignments (which will be e-mailed to you in advance of the workshop).

Early bird rates apply when your full payment and registration are received by EMT a minimum of 60 days prior to the workshop commencement. Two-week rates apply when both weeks of training are registered and paid together and attended in one year. Payment plans, credit card payments, and later payments are available, subject to availability and at a higher rate.

Location: The Healing Hooves Facility 3km north of Cremona, AB - about 45 minutes NW of Calgary Airport. Directions will be e-mailed to registrants in advance of each workshop.

Accommodation: If you are coming from out of town - there is a basic motel 5km away in Cremona called the Hawks Nest (403) 637 2185 and a great B&B called Serenity Hills <http://www.serenityhillsidebedandbreakfast.com/> who will give you a discount if you mention our name. Otherwise there are a number of options in Cochrane (half hour south) including a Best Western (403) 932 1410 (ask for the corporate rate) or in Olds (half hour NE) including the Best Western (403) 556 5900. There are many options in Calgary which is one hour's drive away.

Continuing Education Credits: Most of Healing Hooves workshops are pre-approved for CEC's by the CCPA (Canadian Counselling and Psychotherapy Association) and the ACSW (Alberta College of Social Workers). Paperwork can be completed on site. The workshops also frequently qualify for continuing education with other professional organizations and a certificate of attendance is provided for these purposes.

Certification in EFW and/ or AAT: There are several different certification models and programs in place and under development in both Canada and the US. A selection of these, including the Pro-EFW model, are discussed and reviewed during Healing Hooves trainings. Sue McIntosh is an approved and triple certified Pro-EFW practitioner, trainer and mentor. Healing Hooves itself does NOT offer or provide a certification program and solely attending Healing Hooves trainings does NOT provide you with any level of certification or accreditation in EFW, AAT or anything else.

Healing Hooves trainings have been approved and accepted as meeting parts of training and continuing education requirements for several certifying bodies, including Pro-EFW. However, these processes and programs are subject to ongoing change and modification, and these decisions are made by the relevant professional body and are NOT under the control of Sue McIntosh or Healing Hooves. Many of the associations charge membership, certification and other associated fees which are separate from training and are the responsibility of certification candidates. If you are interested in pursuing Pro-EFW certification it is highly recommended that you join Pro-EFW before attending the focus training. Pro-EFW have requirements regarding when candidates seek membership and to apply for their certification process. As these may change it is recommended you consult with the Pro-EFW website for the most current requirements.

Healing Hooves and Sue McIntosh are independent of and separate from all the professional associations developing and implementing these certification programs.

Personal Growth, Boundaries and Emotional Health Considerations. The training process and workshops at Healing Hooves often involve personal growth, but they are not a replacement for counselling, and the training workshops are not personal growth workshops. Participants are encouraged to respect their own and others' boundaries. By registering for a workshop at Healing Hooves you are agreeing to follow the boundaries, for self and other participants, as established by the trainers and you are certifying that you are emotionally stable and healthy.
